Jason Bauer
Progress 05 Documentation

So, fifth progress. This week has had some fps optimizations for phone as well as adding interactions to the secondary menu. The options part of the menu will come in later on but for now you can navigate to the main menu, or pause the game. Some building sprites have been updated, and further work into the design of how the buildings will work/interact has started.